

Angela McComas has been a genealogist for about twelve years, working on her own lines and those of friends and clients. She works fulltime at the Mid-Continent Public Library Midwest Genealogy Center in Independence, where she is in charge of classes and special programming. Angela teaches many classes at the library and for societies, both local and national and has been published in several venues. Angela can be reached through her website at kcgenealogy.com or by phone 816-289-3161.

