What roadblocks are you facing in your family history research?

Family History Roadblocks

“Get down on your knees and ask the Lord to open the way, and He will open the way for you. I testify that this is true.”

Thomas S. Monson, "Hastening the Work," Ensign, June 2014, 5

How can the new partnerships help you overcome roadblocks?

What will you discover in your family tree?

It's not just history--it's your history. Enter a few facts and we'll help you discover a lot more.

Hi!

We're excited to announce that Latter-day Saint users of FamilySearch.org can now receive personal access to Ancestry.com, findmypast, and MyHeritage at no cost!

Access to these commercial family history websites, used in tandem with enhanced FamilySearch tools, will open new doors of discovery, elevate your ability to provide temple blessings to ancestors, and increase the joy that comes from connecting generations.

Starting today, you can sign up for personal accounts with all three sites and use the features of each in searching for ancestors. In the future, you will be able to connect data between your FamilySearch Family Tree and the online trees of each of these websites. In addition, you will be able to submit names for temple ordinances starting with each of these websites. More information concerning online tree integration and temple submissions will be available by the end of 2014.

To sign up for your personal accounts:

1. Click the button below for the account you wish to register for. You can choose all three, but you must follow the same steps and register for one at a time. After you click the button, you will immediately be asked to sign in to FamilySearch.org.
2. Once you have signed in to FamilySearch.org, you will be guided to create an account for the website you selected. Each account is unique and requires its own registration. This process will require you to return to this email to create a different account for each website you select.
3. Once you have successfully entered your FamilySearch.org information, you'll be taken to the site you've selected to create your account. Or, if you already have an existing account with one of these websites, you can convert your existing subscription to a free account.

The screenshot shows the findmypast website interface. At the top left is the logo "findmypast" with a cluster of green dots. Below it is a dark blue navigation bar with white text for "Home", "My family tree", "Search records", "My records", "News", and "Help & advice". A large grey banner contains the text "Find your English, Scottish and Welsh genealogy". Below the banner is a decorative section with a large arrow pointing right, a circular map, and a circular photo of two women. The text "Deaths & Burials" and "First World" is visible. At the bottom is a search form with two columns: "Who" and "When optional".
